

If all your lending went onto principal and interest tomorrow, could you still afford it?

Time to have a plan

The results from this year's Squirrel Property Survey are out, and the outcome was certainly interesting. We were surprised to see that more than half of kiwi investors have all their lending with one bank.

In a world where policies are as changeable as the weather, it's crucial to keep your head out of the sand and have a plan.
